DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 1-9 are generic to a plurality of disclosed patentably distinct species comprising the various engineering plastics. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species, even though this requirement is traversed.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

2. It is noted that the engineering plastic species of (modified) polyphenylene ether (claim 4) has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, "masking member" is indefinite as to scope and meaning.

In claim 1, the language "among a" renders the Markush group recitation confusing.

In claim 4, "modified" is indefinite as to scope and meaning.

In claims 5 and 6, it is unclear if or how "rubber-like" limits the further material(s).

In claim 8, "ore" pressure forming is not understood.

Art Unit: 1711

In claim 9, it is unclear if or how the two different thickness ranges limit the claimed subject matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over U.S. 6,045,883 (Akiyama et al).

Akiyama et al disclose a composition suitable for the production of sheets comprising polypropylene resin, a polyphenylene ether resin and a compatibility agent wherein the polyphenylene ether is dispersed in a matrix of the polypropylene resin. Suitable compatibility agents include styrenic diene-based block copolymers, which read on the rubber-like material per claims 5 and 6.

The disclosure of the reference meets the requirements of the present claims in terms of the types of materials added and their contents. It is maintained that the products of the reference meet the presently claimed preambular “masking member”, when the latter is given its broadest reasonable interpretation. The onus is shifted to applicants to establish that the product of the present claims is not the same as or obvious from that set forth by the reference.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. 6,045,883 (Akiyama et al), described hereinabove.

As to the thickness of the sheet, it is maintained that it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have made a sheet of any thickness, inclusive of that claimed, with the reasonable expectation of success. This is because by being silent relative to the specific thickness of the sheets, the reference implicitly suggests that any thickness can be employed. Accordingly, absent evidence of unusual or unexpected results, no patentability can be seen in the presently claimed subject matter.

Prior Art

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
